MOTIVATING EXCELLENCE: THE SCIENCE OF FOSTERING PASSION, LOYALTY AND TOP PERFORMANCE

How do you motivate others to produce their best work?

For generations, leaders have received conflicting advice. But now, thanks to groundbreaking new research, we have clear, data-driven insights into the factors that generate employee engagement and sustain performance over the long term.

In this compelling and persuasive presentation, you'll learn the surprising truth about what motivates excellence (hint: it's not money or titles) and discover practical steps you can immediately apply to elevate your team's performance.

You will learn:

- You will learn:
- How to make your job feel more meaningful.
 - The one workplace reward that feels better than a raise.
 - Why many of the practices leaders have been taught to boost motivation-including glowing performance reviews, employee-of-the-month awards, and annual bonuses-can actually reduce employee engagement.
